Washington, Oct. 19.—The small Italian submarine San Giorgio has arrived safely at Archangel from its base in Italy, according to official cables received today from Rome. The trip was made entirely under its own power. The San Giorgio may be the forerunner of a flotilla of Italian submarines that may be sent to aid the Russians.

London, Oct. 19.—Chancellor A. Bonar Law will shortly move for a vote of credit of $2,500,000,000 in the House of Commons, it was learned this afternoon.

Amsterdam, Oct. 19.—Big British guns on the West Flanders front are getting ready to open the way for another drive on the Germans. All night long the cannonade on the frontier 50 miles away could be heard.

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—Two German torpedo boats were sunk in Moep Sound by mines on Thursday, the ministry announced today.

Washington, Oct. 19.—In the absence of official dispatches the Russian embassy withheld comment this afternoon on a report that the Russian provisional government has ordered the removal of the capital from Petrograd to Moscow. However, it is known the move is not unexpected.

(International News Service.)

London, Oct. 19.—Germany's land and sea drive on Petrograd is approaching its final phase. The Russian fortress at Revel at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland is being evacuated. Advances from Petrograd today, telling of the evacuation of Revel, was the outstanding feature of the war news. Germany's powerful Baltic fleet has bottled up the Russian warships operating off the Oesel island groups and in the meantime are bombarding the Russian land works with great violence. Revel is one of the two fortresses defending Petrograd on the Baltic side, the other being Kronstadt. It is also one of the chief Russian naval bases in the Baltic.

London, Oct. 19.—Great havoc was done to the great German military aerodrome at Varsenare near Bruges, Belgium, by British air raiders last night, the admiralty announced today. All the British machines returned.

Copenhagen, Oct. 19.—A big naval battle for the control of the Baltic is imminent. A large section of the Russian Baltic fleet which took refuge in Kassar Bay after the Russian battleship Slava was sunk in Moon Sound, is preparing to make a dash past the German men-of-war guarding the western entrance, according to a dispatch from Petrograd today, dated Thursday night. In the Russian fleet, it was reported, are between 18 and 22 ships, including battleships, cruisers, gunboats, torpedo boats and submarines. There are between 50 and 60 units in the German fleet, not counting the mine sweepers.

Following the capture of Moon Island by the Germans, another effort was made to get possession of Dagoe Island, but the Russians still control the greater part of this island. It is being heavily shelled by German warships, which completely surround it. Part of the action on Wednesday was fought with the warships firing across Moon Island at each other. The Germans now hold four of the six islands dominating the Gulf of Riga.

(International News Service.)

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—Speaking as a representative of the central committee of the workmen's and soldiers' delegates, former Minister of Labor Skabeloff today asked the vice premier that the inter-allied conference at Paris for a revision of war aims be held at the earliest possible moment.

The embargo on exports to the United States which was imposed because of the war was lifted today.

A new constitution for Finland is being drawn up at Helsingfors by members of the Finnish senate and representatives of the provisional government. It is believed it will put an end to the agitation for separation from Russia by Finland.

COLORED TROOPS OF MORGAN COUNTY TO ENTER TRAINING LATE THIS MONTH

ADJUTANT GENERAL CALLS ON EXEMPTION BOARD TO FURNISH DATA REGARDING NUMBER THAT CAN BE MOBILIZED WEEK BEGINNING OCT. 27.

131 MEN WILL BE AFFECTED

SECRETARY DRAPER BELIEVES THAT FULL QUOTA WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR MOBILIZATION. WILL ANSWER SOON.

Sheriff Jas. A. Forman, chairman of the Morgan county exemption board, today received a letter from Adjutant General Hubbard that is interpreted as meaning that Morgan county's quota of negro troops under the first call will be mobilized the week beginning Oct. 27.

The letter follows:

Sheriff Jas. A. Forman,
Decatur, Ala.

Wire me immediately the number of colored men you can have ready to send to mobilization camp, beginning Oct. 27. Detailed information as to this move will be furnished you in a few days.

C. J. HUBBARD,
Brig. Gen.

It is taken for granted here that the order for mobilization on the dates indicated will be issued shortly. It is not known definitely to which cantonment the negro selectmen will be sent, but the impression is general that they will go to Ft. Dodge, Iowa. Figures previously compiled by Secretary Draper show that about 41 per cent of the quota of 328 men in the county are negroes, so that if the entire number are available this will mean that about 135 negroes will be dispatched to the training camp in a body. Secretary Draper will not reply to the letter until he has ascertained definitely if the full number of men is available.

The public is invited to be present tonight and the Boy Scouts are requested to meet at the Association building at 7:10 o'clock this evening.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION ANNOUNCES THAT ONE SPECIAL BRAND OF HALF HOSE TO BE MANUFACTURED HERE.

The Nick-A-Jack Arrow, "a little paper published every once-in-a-while to promote the interest and welfare of everyone connected with the Nick-A-Jack Hosiery Mills," in a recent number makes announcement of the opening of the Decatur Hosiery Mill and also states that only one grade of half hose will be manufactured there, the policy of the company being to specialize.

The announcement follows:

We have recently established a branch of our mill at Decatur, Ala. Decatur is a very pleasant little city on the Tennessee river, 120 miles south of Chattanooga. Adjoining Decatur is the town of Albany, Ala. Both of these places are enterprising, thoroughly modern and up-to-date. We found the people of Decatur and Albany high-class gentlemen who believe in the gospel of work and co-operation. We are glad to have a mill located in such a city, with such people.

We will probably make a different grade of half hose than we are manufacturing in this mill. The dyeing and finishing will be done in this plant. In the future one or more pages of this paper will be devoted to the Decatur mill.

In regard to the grade of hosiery to be manufactured at Decatur, the sales department says:

"Our whole selling policy is based on the idea of specialization. Our entire mill is concentrated on two numbers of fine gauge mercerized half hose. When our new mill is completed at Decatur, Ala., it will eventually take over one of these numbers, so that we will make only one weight and one number in each mill. We know of no large mill in the country specializing on only one number and one grade of goods, but we believe the idea is right. This is an age of specialization. By making one thing only, we claim to be able to do that one thing a little better than anyone else."

NEGRO DESPERADO BREAKS JAIL BUT FAILS TO ESCAPE

Walter Hardley, Sentenced to Hang on Nov. 30, Regains Liberty For Short While

JIM SILAS MAKES A CLEAN GET-AWAY

Jail Janitor Set Upon By Prisoners, His Throat Slashed and Keys Secured

Walter Hardley, alias Cleveland Wilson, noted negro desperado, under sentence of death for the murder of George G. Jones, a Hanceville merchant, is again safely behind the bars of the Morgan county jail, after enjoying his re-gained liberty but a few moments yesterday afternoon, when with a number of other prisoners he engineered a wholesale jail delivery that was prevented only by a stammering warning sounded by S. D. Elliott, a semi-trusty, and the coolness and presence of mind of Mrs. Jas. A. Forman, wife of the sheriff. Jim Silas, held in connection with the death of Will Robertson, whose body was found one Sunday morning at the Echols stable, made a clean get-away. George Ethridge, the jail janitor, was painfully slashed about the throat with a knife which narrowly missed his jugular vein.

The jail delivery shows all the earmarks of having been carefully planned, and was evidently directed by the master mind of Hardley, who three times has escaped from durance villa, twice from Birmingham jails and once from the Florence State Works, where he had been leased by the state after being sent up from Morgan county for 30 years for burglarizing the stores of Williamson & Echols and J. A. Buttrey. Three days ago the condemned man sent for a Bible and apparently was preparing for death, although later developments indicated that this was merely a ruse to throw the officers off the guard.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Hardley urged George Ethridge to bring him a bucket of molasses from Decatur. The janitor complied with the request, and on his return unlocked the cage in which a number of negro prisoners were confined and entered. Hardly had he opened the door until he was set upon from the dark by the convicts and overpowered. He was roughly handled, being cut about the neck by a knife, believed to have been wielded by Silas. Grabbing the keys, the blacks hurriedly shot the cell bolts and prepared for a dash into the open.

S. D. Elliott, under sentence of ten years for the killing of Louie Irwin, a negro barber, and held in jail pending an appeal, has been allowed the freedom of the inner corridor, through which the cells are reached. He stutters badly and under the excitement of the moment his hesitating tongue was slow in sounding a delayed warning. Elliott's stammering cries, combined with the lusty ones of Ethridge, who was still in the more distant cell, finally reached the ears of Mrs. Forman, who grabbed a revolver and held the other prisoners at bay, under threats to shoot.

Once outside, both negroes made a dash through the back yard of the jail, which is used as a garden. Ethridge, in the meantime, had recovered his revolver and leaping to a back wall opened fire upon the fugitives. His bullets did not find their mark but they checked the progress of Hardley, who crouched in the jail garden to escape the leaden hail. He was captured there a moment later by Deputies Beasley and Williams, who had run over from the sheriff's office at the court-house. Today, with a shackle on his leg, the noted murderer is back in his cell and Sheriff Forman is taking every precaution to see that he remains there until the day of his doom.

Silas, it is thought, was the first man out of the jail and got away to a good start. He ran across lots to Davis street and thence across to the (Continued on Page Two.)

TRY TO SETTLE MINER'S STRIKE

JOHN WHITE WILL BE GIVEN A CHANCE BEFORE GOVERNMENT STEPS IN.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 19.—The striking miners in the various coal fields of the country will be given opportunity to reconcile their differences with their employers.

President John T. White of the Mine Workers, reached Indianapolis today to do his best to get the men back at work. He will be given time to do this before the coal administration takes any further step.

Meanwhile Dr. Garfield has completed a plan which will provide for drastic action if the strikes continue to interfere with production. The situation continues to grow increasingly serious. Many cities are on scanty coal rations. Others already are suffering from a general shortage.

Reports that serious hoarding has been discovered at many points are more or less discounted. As a matter of fact there has been too small a production to have allowed this to happen. However, if hoarding is discovered confiscation will follow. Reports that the government plans to cope with the situation provide for the taking over of certain coal fields and two railway systems, continue to be circulated here today.

WILL CANCEL CHARTERS OF STRIKING LOCALS.

(International News Service.)

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 19.—Mine locals in Illinois that refuse to return to work by Monday will have their local charters revoked from the Illinois United Mine Workers of America. Frank Farrington is sending out telegraphic instructions to this effect to all unions today.

It is believed a settlement will be reached.

Charles Rountree "Kicks in" On Morgan County Boys' Tobacco Fund

Charles Rountree, progressive Albany lumberman, today stepped into the Daily office and handed in two one-dollar bills to be added to the Morgan County Boys' Tobacco Fund.

"I don't believe there is anything the boys 'over there' will enjoy quite so much as some good smoking tobacco," Mr. Rountree said.

Letters received here from France all tell the same story—that the "boys" want nothing but tobacco, the good old American brands. They don't want nick nacks and furbelows. J. W. Bunch and Roy Billings, writing from different sections of the firing line, both said "send us tobacco only." Morgan county folks residing out-of-town should "kick in." The money will be equitably distributed.

premises of George D. Williamson, where he ran through the back yard and was lost to view. He was hotly pursued by Deputy Beasley and when the officer became winded he handed his revolver to R. M. Lipscomb, who is assisting the county exemption board and at the time the alarm was sounded was in the office of Circuit Court Jas. L. Draper. Mr. Lipscomb finally gave up the pursuit. A few minutes later two white men passing down Ferry street stated that they saw a retreating negro near the switch track, and it is believed that Silas was swallowed up in one of the negro houses that dot lower Church street.

Sheriff Describes Escape.
Sheriff Forman today, when interviewed by a representative of the Daily, told the details of the escape. He said:

"George Ethridge, the jail janitor, was requested by one of the prisoners to bring him a bucket of molasses. He complied with the request. Yesterday afternoon, after entering the outer corridor, which is protected by iron bars, he passed to the left of two cells used by S. D. Elliott, who is not considered a dangerous prisoner, and approached the cage in which the eight remaining prisoners are confined. This cage is opened by a lever mounted on a key box, and this lever must be thrown before any of the cells can be opened. The janitor usually hands small articles wanted by the prisoners through the bars; and this is the reason that he had been asked to bring the molasses, as the bucket was so large that it could not be delivered without opening the cage. It was dark in the jail, although mid-afternoon, and the janitor failed to turn on the lights. Before opening the cage, he ordered each of the prisoners back into their cells and pulled the lever that locked all their doors. Silas and Hardley, however, had crouched in a dark corner near the doorway, and were unseen by Ethridge. When he opened the door and stooped over to set the molasses bucket on the floor of the cage, these two men attacked him. One of them, probably Silas, slashed his throat. Overpowering the janitor, the two men quickly threw the lever releasing all the other prisoners and made a dash for the front door. The janitor had screamed twice and Mrs. Forman, who heard the alarm, rushed to the front door leading to from the office. Elliott stammered a warning, but he stuttered so badly that his words were unintelligible. He then motioned to my wife to keep back, fearing she would be shot, and other prisoners say that it was the plan of the escaping men to kill anyone who barred their path. When Hardley and Silas saw Mrs. Forman in the doorway they turned and ran to a side door, which they unlocked with the keys they had taken from the janitor. The lock hung, and this delayed their escape. Meanwhile the janitor, believing that his gun had been taken, dashed out through the front door and into my office, where he secured my revolver. He then ran around the jail and climbed the back wall and opened fire on Silas, who was running across to ward Davis street. According to Elliott, who had run upstairs, Hardley had been slower in emerging from the jail than Silas and seeing Ethridge he ran to a side wall and climbed over. The shooting caused him to hide, and when I later climbed on the wall I saw the weeds moving and knew he was there. Knowing that he would believe me to be armed, and would not dare to stir, I stood patiently waiting for the deputies to return from their pursuit of Silas, and when they got back they easily rounded up Hardley."

Forteen Stitches Taken.

Fourteen stitches were taken in the wound in the neck of George Ethridge by Dr. D. V. Darden, a negro physician. The wound began near the left ear and extended toward the front of the face. It was very shallow, and to this fact the janitor owes his life. According to the physician, the wound appeared to have been inflicted with a razor. Ethridge himself was unconscious of the wound until some time later, not knowing at the time that he had been cut. He was able to return to work today.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

Sheriff Forman today offered fifty dollars reward for the apprehension of Jim Silas, who is described as follows:

Dark ginger color, five feet and seven and one-half inches high, weight 140 pounds, 28 years old, medium built, hatchet faced, very bad to stutter, cannot talk at all if the least excited, for stammering. This reward is for him in any jail in the United States. Wire all communications to James A. Forman, sheriff, Decatur, Ala. He has also been examined and accepted as a soldier in the United States army.

Mrs. Forman Grateful.

"I wish the Daily would express for me my appreciation for the assistance rendered by different persons in apprehending the prisoners," said Mrs. James A. Forman today. "I am also grateful for the warning given by Elliott, one of the prisoners."

Mrs. Forman, a diminutive black-eyed woman, has more physical courage than the average man, and did not seem the least excited when seen at the jail yesterday afternoon by a Daily representative, just a few moments after the attempted jail delivery. "Either the sheriff or I are here all the time, and this is the first time since Mr. Forman has been in office that a prisoner has escaped," she said.

Hardley Is Shackled.

Sheriff Forman today placed a chair around the leg of Walter Hardley, who is also being kept under close watch. It is evident that his jail-breaking days are over.

Get Your Hudson Super-Six Now While You Can

Present Prices Can Not Last Long
51 Cars Have Already Advanced

From the standpoint of real value, the Hudson Super-Six is the lowest-priced car on the market.

Recent price advances on 51 cars have entirely upset the usual standards by which motor car values have been determined. In each price group cars naturally found their own place. But now, because some makers must supply their material wants in the present high market and because Hudson has a limited supply bought last year, the selling prices of cars do not indicate their values.

Those companies which faced the necessity of buying materials in the high market had to advance their prices in proportion. It added as much as $100 to $700 to the retail price of cars. It forced former $1,200 and $1,400 cars up to approximately the price of a Hudson Super-Six.

Hudson prices for the time being remain unchanged. Judged by today's material market the Super-Six would have to sell at approximately $2,000. Today you can get a seven-passenger phaeton at $1,650. Such prices can not be continued when the supply of materials now on hand is exhausted. You save money by buying your Hudson Super-Six now.

People never compare the Super-Six with cars sold at or near its price. It has always been likened to cars selling at hundreds of dollars above its price.

War Conditions Reflected In Telephone Service

The problem of providing telephone service for the general public while we give the government the service the situation demands is similar to that of the transportation and manufacturing concerns. Railroads must serve the government first. Manufacturers must adapt their facilities to the needs of the government. So with us telephone facilities must be always at the call of the government everywhere.

It is not surprising under these conditions that the activities incident to the war are reflected in the service of every private and public industry. The same crowded condition which you observe in the streets, in the hotels, stores, street cars, and on railroad trains, is true in our operating rooms, although the telephone users cannot see it.

The calling rate, that is the number of calls per telephone per day, both local and long distance, has increased from 20 to 100 per cent, and in many instances this unforeseen and unprecedented volume of traffic has caused the service at times to be below our usual standard.

While it is practically impossible to secure the needed additional switchboard facilities to take care of this abnormal increase in telephone calls, our engineers are applying all the remedies known to science and are adopting every means at their command to equalize the load on each switchboard so that no particular subscriber will suffer serious inconvenience.

We appreciate the problem before us and realize the service will probably be slowed down during the fall and winter months. We want you also to understand the situation and to know that the operators are serving you cheerfully and to the extent of their ability but under difficulties for which there is no remedy and which you cannot realize without visiting the operating room.

We ask that you co-operate with us by observing patience and care in the use of the telephone. The elimination of useless and frivolous calls and of all calls that are not absolutely necessary during the busy hours of the day will help the service and indirectly assist us in our effort to serve the government efficiently and first.

PRESIDENT IS TOLD SUB SITUATION IS MUCH IMPROVED

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 19.—The present naval situation in the European war zone was laid directly before President Wilson in minute detail today by Admiral Mayo, commander of the Atlantic fleet, who has just returned from an important series of conferences with allied naval commanders at London. The president was told the exact disposition of the American sea fighters in the U-boat zone.

Admiral Mayo's report on the submarine situation was even more encouraging than those previously given the president by Secretary Daniels and other naval officials. The menace of the submarine practically has been eliminated through the co-operation of the American destroyer fleet with those of the allies. Admiral Mayo is understood to have told the president. A very comprehensive plan for future naval activities worked out at the London conference was revealed to the president.

AMUSEMENTS

"SHOT AND SHELL"

The comedy offered tonight at the Masonic is one of the company's best bills and written especially for laughing purposes. The bill was written by Sam Park and is a satire on war in the trenches, no particular nation mentioned. It abounds with funny situations and is brought to a screaming finish with the bombardment of the two comedians, after which comes the grand tableau of the allied nations. Special scenery and costumes, as well as mechanical effects, are carried for this bill, as it is one of the two bills selected to play the big vaudeville circuit in the near future.

"OVER THERE," MASONIC, MONDAY NIGHT, OCTOBER 22.
Have You Heard The Song Over There?

If you have not, you must be sure and attend the Masonic on Monday evening, when Billy "Single" Clifford and his company will not only sing it to you, but present the big laughing farce by the same name. "Over There" is one of the songs with the single to it that only Geo. M. Cohan seems to know how to write. Just listen to the chorus:
Over There, Over There,
Send the word, send the word, over there;
That the boys are coming, the BOYS are coming.
The drums rum-tumming, ev'ry where,
So prepare, say a prayer,
Send the word, send the word, to be ware;
We'll be over, we're coming over,
And we won't come back 'till its over,
Over There, Over There.

Hasn't that got you going already? This is the song that Uncle Sam has adopted for the Sammie Boys. But this is only one of the twelve big song numbers on the show, and while there is just enough of the ballads to round out a delightful program, most of them are of the light and comedy character. Dancing is one of the principal features this season, yet the book itself is the best that Mr. Clifford has had in many years and it is the first season in sometime that Mr. Clifford has had a male cast. The scenery and costumes is gorgeous and delightful and the music is the best ever. One innovation is that the orchestra remains in front the entire evening. The band give their usual open air concerts. Popular prices prevail and seats can be secured now. Don't miss "Over There" when it is Over There.
